What is the Tune-Up Assistance Program?

The Tune-Up Assistance Program (TAP) is designed to help low income homeowners maintain their natural gas space heating equipment.

Completing a Home Heating Tune-Up and regularly replacing the furnace filter keeps warm air flowing throughout your home, reduces the workload on your furnace, and improves indoor air quality.

A participating SaskEnergy Network Member will complete the following Home Heating Tune-Up service for selected homeowners free-of-charge*:

- Examine chimney & clean out debris
- Visually check heat exchanger
- Examine blower compartment
- Clean & lubricate motor and fan
- Clean & reset burners
- Examine operation of fan and high limit controls
- Inspect gas pilot system
- Examine and adjust drive system
- Test thermostat and furnace switch

SaskEnergy will also provide 2 furnace filters and 1 dual natural gas and carbon monoxide detector.

* SaskEnergy covers the SaskEnergy Network Home Heating Tune-Up cost of $139.95, additional $20 charge if a high efficiency furnace or boiler, $75 for second furnace and up to $100 for minor repairs if required. If additional repairs are required, you may add up to $500 to your SaskEnergy bill, on approved credit.
